About this Retreat

This retreat will provide couples serving in pastoral ministry with the opportunity to find care, encouragement, and rest together in the beauty of Muskoka. From the chance to learn together from experienced ministry couples to the simple gift of unhurried conversation and time together, this weekend aims to give husbands and wives the time to get away and slow down to find peace and listen to God and each other.

Topic: Tension Points and Turning Points

Whether it be the struggle to find enough time or the expectations of others, there are several unique tension points that can often create tension points in a ministry marriage. Over the course of the retreat, we will look to understand those tension points and talk with experienced ministry couples to discover helpful ways to work through them in life and ministry.
